

EXUBERANT CTAGS

A multilanguage implementation of Ctags

About

- What is ctags?
- Unique features
- Supported languages
- Supporting tools
- Exuberant user feedback

Documentation

- Manual
- FAQ
- Change Notes
- Tag file format
- GNU regex

Download

- Releases

Development

- Adding support for a new language
- Adding tag file support to a software tool

Support

- SourceForge project page
- Report a bug \(requires SourceForge account\)
- How to Report Bugs Effectively
- Mailing lists
- Email the author
- Ctags on VMS

Please take a moment to rate ctags:

Freshmeat
IceWalkers

ex·u·ber·ant : produced in extreme abundance : PLENTIFUL synonym see PROFUSE

- Used in at least 50 countries in all 7 continents (including Antarctica!)
- Supports 41 programming languages
- Featured in the book, Learning the vi Editor, a title in the O'Reilly series
- Covered in the March 2001 issue of C++ Users Journal, "Navigating Linux Source Code"
- Praised in the Weekend Mechanic column of the June 1997 issue of Linux Gazette
- Praised in Perl Buzz
- Freely available under the terms of the GNU General Public License
- Included in major Linux distributions

Version 5.8 [09 July 2009]

Contents	Package
Source only distribution (gzipped)	ctags-5.8.tar.gz
Source RPM	ctags-5.8-1.src.rpm
Fedora 10 binary RPM (glibc-2.9)	ctags-5.8-1.i386.rpm
Source and binary for Windows 98/NT/2000/XP	ctags58.zip

Ctags is hosted at

